“ We lost our youngest son late in my pregnancy.

After attending St. Philip's with my family for two years and not taking much time to get to know other members of the church, we lost our youngest son very late in my pregnancy. The response from this church community was astounding. Eric, the pastor, spent time with us at the hospital and baptized our son after I gave birth. We held a funeral service at St. Philip's and members of the church attended a funeral for a child they had never met. Families brought us dinner every night for four weeks. People sent greeting cards of sympathy and support. Most of these people I had never officially met and with some I couldn't place a face with the name. Members of the church reached out to us and provided what we needed, even when I didn't know what to ask for. St. Philip's has now become MY church. I want to be part of God's work and part of this church for as long as He will allow me so that I can impact others the way this church and its congregation have impacted me and my relationship with Jesus.
